This non-judgmental approach is perfect for wherever you’re starting on the journey. And it’s a great way to build a small group community.

Each week features a video session with approximately 20 minutes of practical, evidence-based, biblical instruction from Dr. James L. Marcum through the DVD set that corresponds to each week’s small group discussion guide. The group viewing and sharing session is then followed by five days of personal study and application with journaling and small group encouragement. Designed for individual and small group use. Easy to lead with discussion questions built in to each chapter.
